

Tom Connor Service Award

The award is named for Tom Connor - or Emil Sepich, Jr. As Tom Connor, he was a recognized broadcaster for WEEK-TV. As Emil, he was less known but equally as important and valuable in his volunteer work. Emil put forth a lot of time and effort to make our community a better place to live and work.

The Tom Connor Service Award, sponsored by MassMutual Financial Group, is presented annually at the Community Thanksgiving Luncheon to a tri-county individual who has shown outstanding long-term commitment to the community.

Nominees are judged on the length of service, impact of their participation on others and contribution to the community.

Nomination Deadline is October 15, 2010.

Please respond to the following regarding your candidate.

1. Indicate the number of years the nominee has participated in community service within the region.
2. Describe the three most significant community service areas the nominee has been involved with and their impact.
3. How aggressive has the nominee been in starting up or driving programs and/or services?
4. Include any pertinent data which you feel would support your candidate. Letters of recommendation may be included but are not required.

Please submit type-written nominations on standard letter-sized paper (8.5"x11") using 12 point font. Nominations must be limited to a maximum of eight pages, including letters of recommendation. Please send nominations to:
